

NQH BORING FUND

NQH BORING FUND

INTRODUCTION

We post daily financial & economics news, select market opinions, as well as the fund performance, and its portfolio statistics on our FB fanpage, kindly pay a visit for more information!

On September 22, 2021, NQH Boring Fund (the “Fund”) was established, with its portfolio performance evaluated periodically using the fund certificate method (“CCQ”), oriented to operate as a family-owned, closed balanced mutual fund.

Nearly a decade ago, the writings and materials on the lives and investment philosophies of Li Lu, Joel Greenblatt, Seth Klarman, and Peter Lynch exerted a profound influence in shaping the investment and governance style that the Fund pursues, through a boring and simple process: ‘Seek Insights, Buy Bargain, Do Nothing,’ with the objective of achieving portfolio performance that outperforms the market (Benchmark(*): Adjusted VNAllshare and Adjusted VN30) over the long term.

The Fund was established under fairly bleak circumstances. Having only just begun operating, it was served two major downturns by Mr. Market in quick succession, as an early lesson rather than a gentle start (namely, the post Covid downturn of 2022). Nevertheless, the Fund maintained performance that outperformed the market, even as that margin narrowed considerably at certain points, an experience that instilled a deep and lasting appreciation for risk management discipline. Having weathered numerous complex developments and market conditions, on February 2, 2026, the Fund's assets under management (“AUM”) reached their first milestone, with AUM totaling VND 1,000,000,000.

Early-day Capital Contribution Structure

NQH	VND 69,640,000	The entirety of the Founder's capital at the time of establishment, having gone all in (September 22, 2021).
The Family	VND 200,000,000	The Family commit capital to the Fund's certificates, with disbursement made in multiple tranches.

() Adjusted VNAllshare: an index that accounts for post dividend price effects and excludes enterprises without genuine trading liquidity on the exchange.*

() Adjusted VN30: the VN30 index adjusted for post dividend price effects.*